

This Piece May Give You Paws

Dog owners who like to crate their critters but hate how that cage looks sitting in the family room just might take to this new creation. The Doggy Den, from Dog Day Architecture, is a dog crate/end table hybrid made of sturdy wood. With the front panel closed, it's a convenient place to put a lamp and phone. Pop that panel and, says designer Stephanie Henley, it's a cozy spot for Rex to get some shut-eye. With any luck, the sofa won't be so attractive.
